

A non-profit breast cancer foundation supporting research in the Pacific NW, benefiting women everywhere.

actually, we CAN...

Please help me raise funds for breast cancer research

On Sunday, September 15, 2013, I will be tossing my bra at the finish at the 2nd annual Wings of Karen 5K Bra Dash. 100% of the race proceeds and EVERY PENNY of funds raised will go to breast cancer research in the Pacific NW. So even though I am not required to fundraise, I want to support this important work that is saving lives and helping those who need it the most. That is why I am asking my friends and family to contribute.

Please make a tax-deductable donation and let's finish breast cancer together!

Wings of Karen is a non-profit breast cancer foundation proud to raise and direct funds to local Pacific Northwest research institutions in the battle against breast cancer. With such a wealth of internationally-renowned research centers in our own back yard, your funds will keep innovation, research, and talent local.

It is our goal to help fund the study of all aspects of breast cancer, including, but not limited to, prevention, detection, and treatment.

Last year's bra dash was a great success, with over 800 participants, coverage from local TV and radio stations, recognition from the Seattle Seahawks Women's Association as charity of the year, and over $30,000 raised at this event.
